

Overview of the 118 different Rural Development Programmes (RDPs) for 2014-2020

All 118 of the Rural Development Programmes for 2014-2020 were approved by the European Commission between 12 December 2014 and 11 December 2015. Twenty Member states apply one single national programme, and 8 Member States have chosen to have more than one programme – in some cases to combine a main programme with a specific regional programme, e.g. for island regions, and in others to reflect their own administrative and geographical structures. At the date of initial adoption, the Commission published a Factsheet summarising the main challenges that each country or region faces and the ways in which the relevant RDP is aimed to address these. The factsheet is available in the national language by clicking on the hyperlink below, and, for most RDPs, also in English. These Factsheets will be updated where significant amendments are made.
